Chamelia

by Ethan Long

Chameleons are good at hiding and supposed to blend into the background. right? Well, not Chamelia! She loves to dress up and stand out. But when being in the spotlight means being left out of her group of friends, she has to think twice about standing out. Fun story and clever artwork make this a great storytime read! Ages 3-8 ($16.99)

FLY TRAP by Frances Hardinge

Having stolen the money to get into the city of Toll, Mosca Mye, and her companions -- the goose Saracen and the con man Eponymous Clent -- now have to figure out how to get the money to get out of the city. Something is wrong in Toll, the city by day is bright and happy, but why do the citizens fear the twilight bells and lock

Alice Ozma Presents The Reading Promise Wednesday, June 8th, 6 pm

Debut author, Alice Ozma, presents her book--part memoir and part reading challenge--The Reading Promise: My Father and the Books We Shared. She will talk about the reading promise she made with her father to read together every night and also about encouraging a love of reading. This is a very special event for the whole family.

Oye Celia Special Storytime

Saturday, June 11, 11 am

Put on your dancing shoes because this special storytime is going to make you want to themselves inside? Mosca soon finds that Toll has another, secret city that only comes out at night. The dark, crime-ridden night city is ruled by her old enemy, the Locksmiths, who are plotting to take control of the day city too. Agreeing to help save the beloved daughter of the mayor, Mosca must traverse a fine line between day and night and the evil locksmiths. But Mosca has her own plans to reunite the split city. This rollicking adventure is, if possible, even more fun than Fly By Night, the first book of the hilariously clever Mosca Mye. Wonderfully written and ingeniously plotted, Fly Trap will leave you demanding more. Ages 10+ ($16.99)

And . . .

If you missed it in hardcover, Frances Hardinge's The Lost Conspiracy is now out in paperback. On the tropical island, Gullstruck, there is a plot afoot, and young Hathin must shield her mystic sister, Arilou, from the conspirators while discovering and exposing their evil plans. Superbly epic, fast-paced, and thought provoking, The Lost Conspiracy has everything you could ask for in a book. Ages 10+ ($7.99)
